RE: I.A.T.S.E. National Health and Welfare Fund - Plan C
CAPP Account Charges Starting October 1, 2024

Dear Plan C Participant:

Following the Board of Trustees' semi-annual review of our benefit plan experience and future cost projections, we are reporting to you the quarterly CAPP charges for Plan C coverage effective for the coverage quarter beginning October 1, 2024. The October 1st coverage quarter will include any employer contributions received by the Fund Office during May, June and July 2024, as well as any monies in your CAPP account from employer contributions prior to that time.

The Board of Trustees recently reviewed projections of the Fund's benefits costs as compared to the current CAPP account charges for the six-month period beginning October 1, 2024. Given the continued increase in costs for medical, hospital and prescription drugs, some of the CAPP account charges that have been unchanged since April 1, 2023 must now be adjusted. The CAPP account charges for Plans C-1 Single, C-1 Family, C-2 Single, C-2 Family, C-3 Single, and C-3 Family will all increase by $35 per month ($105 per quarter) effective October 1, 2024. The rates for C-4 (Single and Family) and Triple S (Single and Family) will remain unchanged. The CAPP account charges effective October 1, 2024 are shown on the next page.

If you have a CAPP account balance in excess of the charge for two quarters of your enrollment choice, that excess is available for the reimbursement of uninsured medical expenses, such as co-payments. This is the Medical Reimbursement Program, also called Plan-C MRP. As a reminder, you can find a booklet explaining the program on the Funds' website, www.iatsenbf.org.

The table on the next page shows the current quarterly CAPP charges and the new quarterly CAPP charges for the six-month period from October 1, 2024 through March 31, 2025.
